Eighty students who are involved in South High School's band and Junior ROTC program will present their third annual Tribute Concert to celebrate U.S. military service men and women and veterans on Thursday, November 8. The concert is intended as a community Veterans Day celebration event and is free and open to the public.

The patriotic music program will include band pieces, under the direction of Sebastian Tackling, South High instrumental music instructor. The students of the Fargo Public Schools Air Force Junior ROTC program, under the direction of Col. Steven Muhs, will also present an American flag folding ceremony.

Members from local chapters of veterans and military organizations have been invited to the concert as special guests.

This community concert is scheduled to run approximately 45 minutes.
